

November Visit Kalumburu

This November, we supported development of the

TRAMULLA OP SHOP

The Tramulla Op shop has now been operating in the retail space for 8 months. The Tramulla Op shop team have been learning a lot about managing money and retail and how to run a small business and social enterprise. The team has also learnt about using social media in business to make connections, partners and to get support. If you haven't already, 'like' "Tramulla Op Shop" on Facebook!

Gina has been learning how to manage the sales and do the book keeping, whilst Enterprise Partnerships WA (EPWA) supports Tramulla to manage the funds. Gina has done an amazing job opening and managing the Op Shop and is now looking to train other women up in her role.

The other jobs of the Op Shop including collecting the donations that come via Aviair mail, sorting the donations and presenting the stock are all done by volunteers! Thanks to Anthony from HACC for collecting the mail for Tramulla each week, we really appreciate this.

The other volunteers who supported Gina at the Tramulla Op Shop this week were Francis, Angie, Joelene, Lucinda, Vanessa and Getrude. The volunteers helped display the clothes and sort donations.

This trip the women explored the Op Shop business model and how the profits are now being used to pay a Tramulla Op Shop manager 4 hours per week.

The Tramulla Strong Women's Group feel really good that they have continued on with Tramulla's Op Shop dream. We miss her dearly however the women know that she would be very proud of everyone who has worked and volunteered to keep her dream alive of young women learning business skills in Kalumburu. We had a small celebration lunch and some Christmas cake!

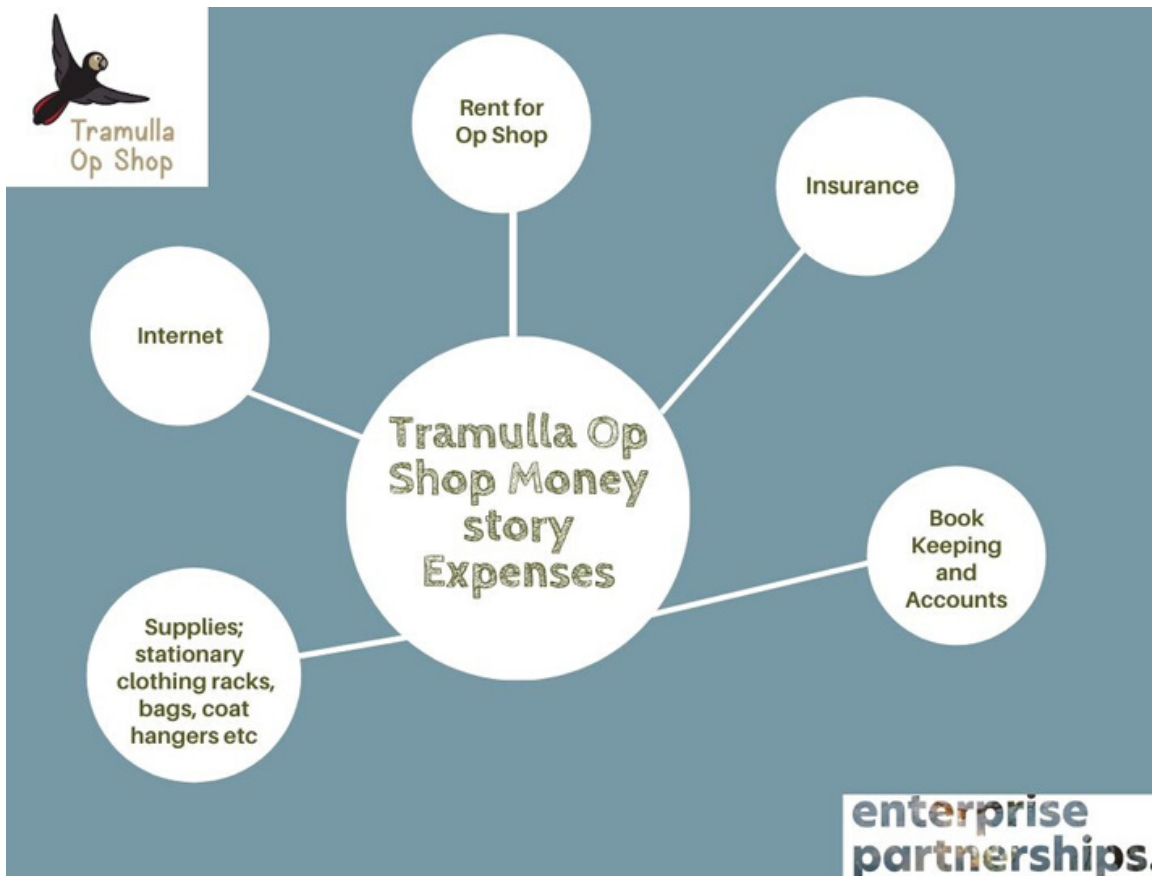

Thanks to all the locals who come and shop at Tramulla Op Shop. There is always new stock arriving and great items to find ranging from $2 to $15. There is something for everyone!

Let the Op Shop team know what items you need and we will try and get it to Kalumburu. We know that curtains, towels and sheets are popular and often bought on the first day they are displayed for sale.

New Opening Times:

The Op shop is now going to open on Wednesdays and Friday mornings, and with the help of volunteers also hope to open on Saturdays once a month as well.

Thanks to Tramulla Strong Women's Group and Kalumuru community members for hosting Enterprise Partnerships WA.
